EnPowered works with lenders to create an easily-affordable, low-risk purchase agreement for customers, helping you close more deals.

Energy solutions should be easy and simple to purchase. EnPowered Payments will help you close deals with customers who otherwise would not be ready to buy.

Why place payments on-bill?

The energy industry is complex, and solution providers that provide a simple means of purchasing their solutions have an edge. Placing payments on your customer's electricity bill will allow you to:

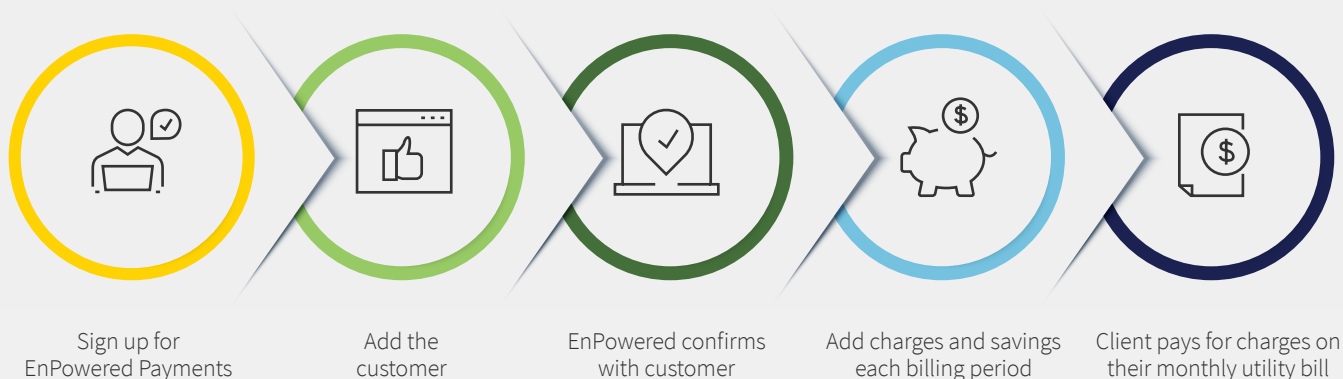

- + Create a smooth, fast sales cycle between you and your customers.
- + Help your customers outmaneuver capital constraints, so you close more deals.
- + Streamline billing to show all energy costs and savings in the same place.

If your clients are not interested in paying on-bill, EnPowered will support you with traditional lending services. However, your clients will miss out on the full benefit of our Payments solution.

How Payments Works

With EnPowered Payments, you will leverage our technical and market expertise, and status as a licensed energy company, to create a robust interface between your company, lenders, utilities, and customers. We take on the burden of navigating the complex energy landscape, so you and your customers enjoy simple transactions, with complete transparency.

The Payments platform will allow you to bundle charges and savings (e.g., rebates, savings calculations, etc.) on your customer's electricity bill, alongside their normal charges—providing them with a convenient, holistic view of their energy consumption and costs.
